Is it Purchasing or Procurement?

Does it Matter?

Some say no, some say yes. I'm one of the yeses. Procurement in the U.S. translates into the full package:

- work with departments to get specifications, needs, time line,
- Determine procurement methodology, bid, RFP, quote, etc.
- Issue solicitation, is it available to all? Meet law---
- Receive in solicitations , review, or RFP, assemble selection committee,
- Do all legal requirements - bonds, insurance, etc.
- Make recommendation to Board of Government
- Issue Award
- Issue Contract (a whole other section!)
- Then, the fun begins, full overview and ensuring all requirements are met
- Final closure of contract
- And then if a commodity, surplus sale

We are all familiar with the saying from “womb to tomb” – and that is pretty accurate of what we do – full circle.

So this is a REALLY BREIF overview of what we do as professionals – and this is Procurement – we don't just buy “something”. We are strategic partners with our using departments and our vendor/supplier community.

What do you think?

MAKING HISTORY

The first local Georgia Chapter of the National Institute of Governmental Purchasing (NIGP) was chartered February 3, 1984. The dues were $10.00 and the annual year during this time was May 1, 1984 to April 30, 1985. During this time, the chapter met monthly at the Twin Towers, State Office Building. By the end of the first year, there were 105 members.

Without Historical records, we would not have these facts about our organization. We would not know that as of February 3, the chapter just celebrated our 27th year.

Please visit the chapter's website www.ganigp.org, under "Home" and "History" and read some of the interesting events and facts that have made our chapter what it is today, a successful and professional organization. Sue Franklin, Historian

DID YOU ATTEND THE EXPO IN MARCH?

If you did, was it all you thought it would be? Opportunity to attend great sessions? Meet new (& old) vendors/suppliers? Participate in the Reverse Trade Show?

If you did wonderful! And thank you! And if you didn't, why not? Contact any of the Board members for more information as to why it is beneficial to you and your organization.

Volunteer Services

I want to give a great big shout out to Bonnie McNabb – she was a volunteer at the attendee registration booth (along with a whole lot of others) but she worked both days – each over 4 hours – helped with everything – and overall a great volunteer. THANK YOU!

So do you need re-certifications points for CPPB/CPPO? Volunteer at the Expo – right in Atlanta by the airport – how easy can that be? Plus you get to meet other GA Chapter members and network with them. So when the call goes out for 2012 Expo volunteers think about it- and just say yes!

Want more of a challenge – be on the Expo Board / committee – get your hands into the thick of it and make the Expo actually happen – organizing, arranging, helping any/everywhere, be exhausted & energized!!

Congratulations

To all new CPPBs and CPPOs!

The Skinny on GANIGP Awards, Scholarships and Grants---Gayle Porster, CPPB

The exciting news is that we are receiving lots of grant applications. Remember, to apply you need to have attended two Chapter Business meetings within the past twelve months and have been an active member for the same period since 2010 and now in 2011. Grants are for up to $300 per calendar year. Coming up right around the corner will be the time for the Awards applications. Don't let this sneak up on you! The application process takes a bit of time and you must be able to submit documentation to support what you have done, but the honor of receiving the award plus the full paid pass to the upcoming NIGP Forum will definitely be worth the effort. So take a look at last year's award criteria to get an idea of what you will need to submit--and start working on the application now.
